Dig in

Construction workers are replacing the old wood utility poles along Rua 25 de Abril with new concrete poles. Work along this street is expected to be completed sometime next week. This is part of a project to repair and upgrade the base's electrical distribution system.

News briefs

Vice consulate to visit base

The American vice consulate from the American Embassy, San Miguel, will visit Lajes, May 8. He will be available, by appointment only, to assist military members and civilian employees and their families with any issues of concern. Call the military personnel flight customer service at 2-3259 or 2-1343 to set up an appointment.

Closures set

The commissary will be closed Tuesday in observance of a Portuguese holiday. All Army and Air Force Exchange Service facilities, except the Main Street Shoppette, will also be closed. The shoppette will be open noon- 8 p.m.

Power outages set for Beira Mar

There will be a power outage Wednesday, Thursday and May 4, in parts of Beira Mar housing from approximately 8:30 a.m.-noon each day.

Vet clinic closes temporarily

The veterinary clinic will be closed May 9-11 while the staff relocates to Bldg. T-459, across from the dining facility. For more information call the clinic at 2-3134.

How to report telephone trouble

On base, Portugal Telecom provides the dial tone for base housing and dormitory telephones. The 65th Communications Squadron maintains the communications infrastructure, including wires and jacks.

Military housing residents should report telephone trouble to telephone maintenance by calling, free of charge, 800-202-434. Workers here will determine if the problem should be reported to PT for repairs. Off-base residents should report telephone problems to PT by calling 295-500-416.

Goal day policy

Question: Could you please have something printed in the base paper explaining the wing goal day policy? I'm specifically interested in the post office and the medical facilities. Thanks a lot.

Answer: Thanks for your call. With the frequent turnover of people here at Lajes, it's a good idea to publish the goal day policy occasionally.

Goal days are based on how well we accomplish our mission. My objective is to reward as many Team Lajes members as possible for meeting or exceeding our goals, while still continuing our around-the-clock mission.

The post office's finance and parcel pickup windows are closed on goal days. However, postal troops work on goal days processing and posting mail to your box.

The 65th Medical Group offers the same access to medical care as provided on weekends. An on-call physician is available, day or night, at cellular 966-478-370, or beeper 295-575-000, ext. 0429. Emergency services are available at 295-571-911. Routine appointments aren't offered.

Only use the emergency number if there is a threat to life, limb or eyesight, or if there is undue suffering. If a 911 call is placed, the response team is required to take the patient to the hospital in Angra.

Another important aspect of the policy concerns civilian employees. Department of Defense policy precludes using the Time Off Award program for civilians in conjunction with a military down day. American and Portuguese civilian employees are given the option of reporting to work, using annual leave, leave without pay or earned compensatory time so they can also enjoy wing goal days.

Team work keeps base looking good

K.J. Leonard

Housing management office

Most people want to live in good looking neighborhoods. On bases around the world, military family housing residents are responsible for making the neighborhoods look good.

Housing residents must ensure lawns, porches and patios are well maintained.

The housing management staff offers several initiatives to help residents keep their homes looking sharp inside and out.

The Self-Help Store has the items to get any lawn in tip top shape, including shrubs, flowers, trees, grass seed and fertilizer. In addition, there are gardening videos and all the tools necessary to get the job done.

The Home You're Proud Of award program kicks off in June and provides monthly prizes for the best looking lawn. Monthly winners will receive cash and prizes from base agencies and local vendors.

Exterior area inspections are conducted weekly. Residents in assigned areas not meeting required standards will be issued reminder notices.

Safety is always a priority and everyone should help out in common areas and playgrounds. Working as a team, we can maintain a safe environment for our children.

When parents take children to the playground, they should take the time to make sure it's safe. A recent inspection of these areas turned up broken glass, rocks and trash.

For more information call the housing management office at 2-3507.

Street bullfights begin Tuesday

Eduardo Lima
Public affairs

It's time again for the street bullfight season on Terceira island. The season begins Tuesday and continues through Oct. 15.

This type of bullfighting is an old local tradition. No one seems to know the exact origin, although some historians believe it began with the tournaments and jousts noblemen held during special occasions. This tradition is a popular and important part of the festivals around the island.

The bulls, usually four, are hauled in crates from ranches in the center of the island to the village where a bullfight is scheduled. A motorcade of villagers who helped select the bulls usually precedes the truck transporting the bulls.

Later in the day, usually at 6 p.m., a blast that sounds like fireworks lets everybody know that it's time for the first bull to be released, and it lets those who don't want to play matador have time to seek a high wall or a veranda.

The bull, with a rope around his neck secured by eight men dressed in white, is released from his cage and begins to pursue those who dare to harass him or who are in his way.

After the brave men in the crowd goad the bull for about 30 minutes, the rope handlers pull the bull back into the crate for a well-deserved rest -- for the men and the bull. Two firecracker blasts then let everybody know it's safe to walk or drive down the street, but only for about ten minutes, which is how long it takes for the next bull to be released.

Another local tradition related with the street bullfights is the popular food stands called "Tascas."

In these portable stands people can find some of the island's best-known local wine, beer and sodas, as well as seafood and beef and pork sandwiches.

I encourage everyone to see a bullfight while he or she is here on the island. But, keep in mind that it could be dangerous if you don't take proper precautions. Every year people gored by bulls or hit, burned or dragged by the rope, end up in a hospital bed with serious injuries. There have been some fatalities in the past because people misjudged the bull. The bulls are not pets and are not tame.

U.S. Forces Azores regulations prohibit U.S. military members, civilians and dependents from actively participating in any type of bullfighting on the island.

Remember, as well, that U.S. Forces Azores regulations prohibit U.S. military members, civilians and dependents from actively participating in any type of bullfighting on the island.

To ensure safety when watching a street bullfight, choose a high place, out of the bull's range. Be careful and use common sense.

The first bullfights of the season take place Tuesday at Fontinhas, Agualva, Ribeirinha and Canada de Belém in the village of Terra Chã, at 6 p.m.

More than 140 Army and National Guard troops will begin the demolition of Cabrito tank in May. This picture was taken after local contractors repositioned the topsoil on the 4.2 million gallon tank in early April. The circular area in this picture is the top of the fuel tank. Removal of the 13-year-old tank is expected to cost nearly $1.7 million. The project should be completed by the end of August.

Cabrito tank demolition begins

1st Lt. Kris Skopeck

Public affairs

Thanks to a cooperative initiative between the Regional Government of the Azores, the Government of Portugal and United States Forces Azores, the first phase of work is under way to demolish a deactivated fuel storage tank at Cabrito and restore the area to its previous condition.

Following a local contractor's repositioning of topsoil over the site, which began April 2, the 4.2 million gallon tank will be dismantled by United States Army professionals from the Louisiana National Guard.

The tank removal, which includes an estimated 1,500 tons of reinforced concrete, in addition to the steel tank, is estimated to be completed by the end of August.

"The RGA has been a strong proponent for dismantling the Cabrito tank and initiated, via the bilateral agreement process, a proposal for the United States government to do so," said Col. Bill Percival, U.S. Forces Azores commander. "Although it was a challenge to find a civil engineering team capable of dismantling the tank and to receive the funding to complete the project, I'm happy to say this cooperative effort is coming to fruition."

USFORAZ is hosting 143 military engineers from the Louisiana Army National Guard 225th Engineer Group, at a cost of nearly $1.7 million, to complete the project. The Guard team will bring specially-trained engineers and equipment to the island.

The RGA is contributing to the project by providing permits and licenses for the team to transport the equipment between the port of Praia and the demolition site. Also, RGA officials are allowing for U.S. equipment to rest on nearby property during the demolition, providing landscaping upon project completion, and offering other logistics support.

Approximately nine miles from Lajes, the partially-buried tank was drained of fuel, sealed and removed from service in 1993. With the construction of the South Tank Farm in 1983, which includes fuel storage tanks currently in use between the base and Praia, the need to use fuel storage tanks in outlying areas decreased.

Boston Marathon

Lieutenant finishes in top five percent

Staff Sgt. Beverly Isik

Public affairs

Out of more than 15,500 runners in this year's Boston Marathon, a person from Lajes finished in the top five percent.

Navy Lt. Steve Bowser, U.S. Forces Azores deputy director for logistics, ran his sixth Boston Marathon, April 16, beating not only his goal of finishing in the top 10 percent, but also his personal best record.

Lt. Steve Bowser shows off his souvenir "been there, done that" T-shirt from the 105th Boston Marathon. He finished 764th out of more than 15,500 runners.

"I felt like I had won," he said. "I think that comes from breaking my own record."

Running the 26 mile, 385 yard marathon in 2:57.57, a pace of 6:49 per mile, the lieutenant beat his previous best time by 1:10.

"There was a 10 mile per hour head wind during the race that other people complained about," the lieutenant said. "I just laughed. When you're used to the wind at Lajes blowing down the runway at a standard 25 miles per hour -- 10 seems like a breeze."

Only 13,397 runners completed the race that started near the town center in suburban Hopkinton to the finish line at Copley Square in downtown Boston.

Bowser finished 764th overall, was the 722nd male to complete the course, and the 536th male between the ages of 18 and 39 to finish.

Planning to run the marathon next year if his workload permits, he started "maintenance running" April 20.

Enlisted heritage ball set for May 18

Master Sgt. Lawrence Cole
Tri-Service Top 3

Lajes' 5th Annual Enlisted Heritage Ball is set for May 18 at 6 p.m. at the Top of the Rock Club.

"The ball is a great opportunity to recognize and honor the rich and dramatic heritage and tradition of the enlisted corps of our armed forces," said 65th Air Base Wing Command Chief Master Sgt. Steven Crocker.

Guest speaker for the evening will be Chief Master Sgt. Keane, Air Combat Command's command chief master sergeant.

Committee members are still working out the details in order to set ticket prices. However, tickets will be available through unit first sergeants once they are on sale.

Spouses are invited to attend. The uniform for the evening's event is semiformal or mess dress.

For more information call Master Sgt. William Crow, enlisted heritage ball committee chairman, at 2-3921.

Promotions

Two airmen will be promoted to the next highest rank in May. Jamie Coffey, 65th Security Forces Squadron, will be promoted to senior airman below-the-zone, and CaMecia Bain, 65th Supply Squadron, will be promoted to airman first class.

NCO academy graduates

Three Team Lajes members graduated from the NCO academy at McGuire Air Force Base, N.J. The graduates are: Tech Sgts. Anthony Berman, 65th Medical Operations Squadron, Joe Alvarado, 65th Mission Support Squadron, and Gary Whitney, 65th Transportation Squadron.

Harlem Globetrotters to storm island

Tickets to see the Harlem Globetrotters go on sale Wednesday.

Tickets for the game, which takes place May 12, 9 p.m., at the Angra Municipal Sports Pavilion, can be purchased at the pavilion from 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Cost for adult tickets is 2,000 escudos; 1,000 for 14-18-year-olds. Children under 14 are admitted free. After the game, the players are expected to sign autographs for at least 15 minutes.

The team's goal is that every fan walk away with an autograph and a lasting memory, a spokesman said.

This is the 75th anniversary season for the team, known as the Ambassadors of Goodwill.

For more information call Eduardo Lima, 65th Air Base Wing Public Affairs at 2-3413.
